archTIS founder and chief technology officer buys 90,000 shares on-market

archTIS Ltd (ASX:AR9) chief technology officer (CTO) and director Bruce Talbot has stepped up and bought 90,000 shares through on-market trades.

The purchase totalled $9,900 and increases Talbot's overall holding to 7.28 million shares in the company.

Talbot's trading follows yesterday's news that archTIS's Kojensi Gov Beta Program with the Commonwealth Attorney General's Department (AGD) has been expanded.

archTIS is a Canberra-based firm that specialises in the design and development of products, solutions and services for secure information sharing and collaboration.

Established in 2006, archTIS has over 10 years' experience delivering secure information and identity management services and solutions within the highest security levels of the Australian Government.

Kojensi Gov is secure content and collaboration cloud service tailored for the multi-level security information sharing and collaboration needs of government.

Final stages underway ahead of Kojensi Gov commercial release

Since listing in September 2018, the Company has focused on commercially launching its products.

Execution has been focused on two activities:

- Finalising product development and the release of a commercial version of the Kojensi Gov platform; and
- Building and executing our "go to market" strategy by establishing a network of strategic partners.
