Feedback expecting significant revenue growth

Feedback PLC (LON:FDBK), the specialist medical imaging technology company, is expecting to report significant revenue growth in the current financial year.

In a short trading update covering trading in the fiscal year to 31 May, the company said the recruitment of new personnel and the investment in product sales in the first half of the financial year had given the top-line the anticipated boost but the real benefit is expected to filter through in the years to come.

In the meantime, that same investment has increased the company's cost base; as a result, the loss for the current financial year will reflect such investment but not the total anticipated income.

The strategic review of the business kicked off earlier this month by the new chief executive officer of the company, Tom Oakley, is still in progress.
