Actinium Pharmaceuticals' Phase 3 blood cancer fighting drug results expected this fall

Actinium Pharmaceuticals Inc (OTCMKTS: ATNRW) CEO Sandesh Seth tells Proactive's Christine Corrado the biotech's flagship cancer fighting drug, lomab-B, is currently in Phase 3, with results expected this fall, and an FDA filing expected in early 2020.

Seth says the drug targets elderly, acute myeloid leukemia patients, what he says is the deadliest form of blood cancer known to man.

Seth says the elderly can't tolerate chemotherapy drugs, and often die from the treatment. In contrast, Seth says Actinium's drug replaces chemo, with a bone marrow transplant and cure rate of about 20%.
