Infinity Lithium leveraging Banio Potash Project to advance San Jose Lithium Project

Infinity Lithium Corporation Ltd (ASX:INF) (FRA:3PM) (STU:3PM) director Adrian Byass speaks to Proactive Investors about the Banio Potash Project in Southern Gabon, where a 1.67 billion tonne maiden resource was revealed this week, explaining the various options open to monetise it in order to focus on the company's core strategy of developing the San Jose Lithium-Tin Project in Spain.

Byass explains, "the company's quite clear in its focus; it's very rare that you have a curse of riches, in that we have two excellent projects which both could be advanced. But the returns and the market growth and the real appetite for the San Jose project within Europe means that we can't do anything but advance that as fast and as hard as we can."
