W Resources showcases new La Parilla jig and concentrator in Spain

W Resources PLC (LON:WRES) shares rose this week as the firm said it had detected hit intersections from recent diamond core and reverse circulation drilling at the Régua mine development in Northern Portugal. And today Chairman Michael Masterman spoke to Proactive London from the other main W Resources asset, this time in south western Spain; to showcase for investors the shiny new on-site jig and concentrator. Only one week off the scheduled installation programme pledged to investors, he adds. Michael reflects on the 'spectacular' results from northern Portugal "The exceptionally good drilling results at our Régua tungsten project in Portugal bode well for increases in mine feed grades and overall resource tonnages," he said.
