Mako Gold to test high-priority gold targets in drilling program at Cote d'Ivoire project

Mako Gold Ltd (ASX:MKG) managing director Peter Ledwidge speaks to Proactive Investors about the restart of drilling at the explorer's Napie project in Cote d'Ivoire in West Africa, with 3,600 metres of reverse circulation drilling planned. Drilling follows previous multiple, high-grade intercepts in the same area, aiming to extend the current 500-metre strike of gold mineralisation on the Tchaga prospect to 1.4 kilometres. Ledwidge says he's also on a mission to uncover further new projects for the company in an upcoming trip to West Africa.
