Mkango Resources unearths new mineralisation areas at Thambani uranium project

Mkango Resources Ltd (LON:MKA, CVE:MKA) told investors that it has extended areas of uranium-tantalum-niobium mineralisation at the Thambani project, in southern Malawi.

Findings from last year's exploration campaign, including assays from rock samples, confirmed uranium, tantalum and niobium with grades of up to 0.74% U₃O₈, 0.41% Ta₂O₅ and 3.24% Nb₂O₅, the company revealed.

It marks success for a programme that had aimed to identify new areas of mineralisation at Thambani, and, identify sites for a future drill campaign.

The company is currently evaluating strategic options for Thambani including possible joint ventures and "other potential avenues to create value".

"The work has identified a number of potential uranium and associated niobium-tantalum-zircon targets over the Thambani Massif, which is mainly composed of nepheline-bearing syenite gneiss, forming two prominent ridges known as Thambani East Ridge and West Ridge," Mkango said.
