Lithium Australia's Adrian Griffin details government research grants and coronavirus plans

Lithium Australia's (ASX:LIT) Adrian Griffin tells Proactive London's Andrew Scott the outbreak of coronavirus so far has had very little impact on the business and its operations in China.

Griffin also updates on recent developments including a grant they've been awarded by the Australian federal government to support the next stage of its $3.6m LieNA® research and development programme.

LieNA® is a proprietary technology for the recovery of lithium from spodumene - the most common hard-rock source of lithium for the production of critical battery chemicals.
